THE TIDES OF PUGET SOUND.

Reaching a Height of Twenty Feet—A Dangerous Stretch of Water

The waters of the Narrows, from which a party of University of Puget Sound students escaped through good fortune after a boat was upset, are treacherous. It is a place of terrible tides.

Viewed from the precipitous shores the surging waters are magnificent. The scene has been compared with the Hudson above New York city. The waters of that part of Puget Sound which extends to Olympia, Mud Bay, Shelton and Henderson Bay, a vast inland sea within itself, all flow in and out of the Narrows.

In the upper reaches of the sound some twenty-five or thirty miles from the Narrows the tides attain a height of more than twenty feet. When the tides begin to fall all the accumulated water rushes out through the Narrows like a great river at flood. In like manner when the tides rise in the direction of Olympia the Narrows become a swift and turbulent stream. Frightful whirlpools are numerous. Streams running powerfully in contrary directions strike and the water boils.

Large steamboats struck by the contrary currents groan and creak and sway under the strain. This being so, it is no wonder that small craft overturn in the Narrows. A whiplash has been known to seize a rowboat and twist it round and round until the rowers almost despaired of coming out alive.

It is a marvellously beautiful water with all its terrors, and hundreds and thousands will continue to find pleasure there notwithstanding the summer tragedies. The rumble of the tides when running at full tide like the distant rumble of the ocean. The terrors of the sea are an element of its charm, and so it is with the terrors of the Narrows.— Tacoma Ledger.

Up in the Air.

Aeronautics is advancing by leaps and bounds, or perhaps we should say by swoops and dashes, so says a writer in "Success Magazine."

Count Zeppelin, of Germany and the circumambient atmosphere made recently a flight of 850 miles in thirty-seven hours and perfect safety. Preparations are going forward for a regular commercial dirigible service from Frankfurt to Berlin containing all the modern conveniences except rate rebates.

The University of Paris has received an endorsement for a chair of aviation.

In the field of aeroplanes and other heavier-than-air machines the Wright brothers are still preeminent, although many queer looking craft are roosting in apple trees all over the world. These many Wright persons have arrived in America: have received enclaves from presidents, governors, mayors, and other earth crawling creatures; have said:
"Thank you, gentlemen, and have hurried back into their overalls. If the Wrights were to wear all the medals that have been given them they would never be able to rise above sitting posture."

Meanwhile our War Department is drawing up plans for a fleet of dirigibles to patrol our coasts and give notice, by wireless, of the approach of the enemy. It is hoped that we will get into trouble with some nation as soon as our balloons are working well.

All is hopeful and encouraging except the news from Illinois. There, not long ago, a balloon passed over a base ball diamond. The drag rope struck a player and caused him to mull a fly hitting in the winning run. Such events as this make one wonder whether the navigation of the air should ever have been attempted.

ABOUT THE STATE

Three bears were seen in the field of These animals are said to be plenty in that vicinity since deer have become so common.

From 50 to 75 members of Vermont State Optical association are expected to attend the second annual convention to be held in Rutland, August 4 and 5.
Besides papers and lectures by experts the association plans an excursion to Lake Bomoseen and a banquet.

Mason Brown of Burlington, who is serving a sentence in the house of correction, will have to face a charge of grand larceny as soon as his time expires. It is alleged that while working as a trustee outside the institution he has taken copper and brass from the F. H. Patch Manufacturing company.

The eighth annual tournament of the Vermont State Golf association will be held at Manchester August 5-7. A medal will be given the maker of the best score in the qualifying round and there will be a prize for the runner up in the championship final. The championship final on Saturday will be at thirty-six holes, while the other divisions will contest in eighteen hole matches. On Saturday morning there will also be an open handicap at eight-teen holes medal play with prizes for the best gross and net scores.

POULTRY AT STATE FAIR.

New Exhibition Building to Be Erected and Special Prizes Will Be Offered.

The Vermont state fair commission held a meeting at White River Junction last Friday to consider preliminary details for the fair to be held September 21 to 24. It was decided to erect a large and commodious poultry house, giving up the old building to the fish and taxidermy exhibit. The new poultry house will be located in the loop of the old kite-shaped track and will be built on modern lines. The plan shows a well lighted building, which will be an improvement over the old structure.

The premiums offered this year in the poultry department are larger and more attractive than ever. Nearly $300 is offered in prizes. This amount includes a special prize offered by the Elizabeth Copper Mine of South Stratford, for the best exhibit of poultry, including water fowl and turkeys, owned in Vermont, consisting of a $50 silver cup for first, $50 for second and $20 for third successful exhibitor.

The premium book, just from the press, can be had by writing Fred L.
Davis, secretary, White River Junction, Vermont.

STATE FORESTER'S VISITS.

Gives Dates For Trips to Various Vermont Towns.

After the recent conference of the state foresters of the Northwestern United States at New York City, where it became evident that Vermont was among the states into which a pine disease had been imported on pine seedlings A vigorous plan of action was immediately put into operation. The students of the university of Vermont are now inspecting all the pine plantations that have been made with the German stock imported by the State Nursery at the Experiment Station and while little evidence of the disease has been discovered, all the currants and gooseberries near these plantations have been destroyed, as the disease can only spread by means of these plants. The authorities of the U. S. Dept. of Agriculture believe that with this extreme treatment the disease will be speedily wiped out.

While this inspection work makes an unexpected drain upon the forestry appropriation the regular work of the service has not been interrupted. This consists during the summer of the investigation of the forest conditions of the state and the advising private owners regarding the management of their tract. Two students of the Yale Forest School are now making a special examination of the serious burns of last year with a view of recommending a more efficient execution of the present law as well as any desirable changes in the law.

In this connection the state forester has just appointed fire wardens in the unorganized towns of Essex county as authorized by the laws of 1906.

The interest in better forest management is growing so rapidly and the demands for a personal inspection of lands are so numerous that the state forester is obliged to group his visits in various parts of the state so as to save time in travel. This will also accommodate the land owners, for whereas they are ordinarily charged traveling expenses to and from Burlington, they will during the periods mentioned below only be charged an expense from the center nearest them. Applications may be addressed to F. B. Hayes, state forester, Burlington, Vt., at any time or at one of these centers at the time mentioned below.
